SPORTS NITE

As Trenton High School's eleventh annual Sports Nite drew near, tension and excitement raged among the fairer sex of Trenton High. Team meetings were called by the captains — Lucy Naples of the Reds, and Franny Pedrick of the Blacks. Songs and cheers of both teams echoed and reechoed through the halls. Long after school hours, girls could be found working in the gym. Gym classes turned into Sports Nite work shops — no basketball or baseball, but practice, practice, practice. Each in his own style, Lou D'Angelo of the Red Band and Willie Andrews of the Black Band practiced their respective bands to perfection. So Sports Nite rehearsals built up to the thrilling climax of the actual performance nights. With Joan Taylor as Mistress of Ceremonies to greet the spectators, Elma Walton depicting Miss Trenton High and Sylvia Solan as Miss America, the show got off to an auspicious start.

Snappy marching teams, beautiful non-competitive events and the hotly contested competitive numbers provided the packed stands with thrills galore. The scooter races and obstacle course were highlights of the performances.

Close competition prevailed at each showing. As excitement died down on one side, the other side took it up. Much speculation formed on the final night as to which team would be the victor. When the "tumult and the shouting" died, the Black Team has won a 27-22 victory.
